1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yoshidome (6,522,425).

Yoshidome corrects the color of a flat panel display 18 (Fig. 1) that could be an LCD or plasma display (col. 12 lines 14-17). Noting Figs. 4A and 4B, Yoshidome uses look-up tables (first mentioned in col. 4 lines 56-62, note also col. 34 lines 11-23) for providing the color correction, wherein as shown in Figs. 4A and 4B, the image is divided into nine sections and the points A - I are identified as reference coordinate (central), and wherein color correction is carried out by converting distance information (i.e. point positions identified within the respective nine blocks) in terms of respective color values. The surrounding pixel color values are used to interpolate the correction value for the areas based on their relative positions (i.e. distances from the respective central points: col. 16 line 49 - col. 17 line 39).

2. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

3. Claims 2-5 appear allowable over the prior art.
